

Supernatural Science

The world's great mysteries investigated by science

Supernatural Science uses a panoply of tools of modern science to illuminate the boundaries of human experience and belief. Dramatic reconstruction is combined with expert interviews and personal testimony to explore phenomena which defy rational explanation

The programmes in Series One are:

Buried Alive: A paralysing poison used to create zombies may have a future for space travellers.

Miracles of Faith – or Creations of Chemistry?: Madonnas that weep and statues that drink. Are they religious or the work of fraudsters.

Monsters from the Lake: Is Loch Ness a Jurassic park or hoaxer's heaven?

Spontaneous Human Combustion:

Forensic science investigates the cause of this bizarre occurrence.

The Bermuda Triangle: Does new evidence confirm the area as the most treacherous sea on earth?

Atlantis Found?: The search for this mystical city goes from Europe to the high plains of South America.

Between Life and Death: Those who have narrowly escaped death help shed light on the workings of the human brain.

ESP: Is extra-sensory perception merely a collection of coincidences or is it a skill which could help solve crimes, or even fight wars?

Physical Feats: Offering insights into the power of the human mind to overcome the limits of the body.

Open to Suggestion: The mysterious world of hypnosis and its extraordinary power, for good and devil.

Secrets of Levitation: No longer the preserve of psychics and gurus, science has shown that levitation could have a future.

Previous Lives: The truth behind the global belief in re-incarnation?

Electric Hands and Mind Detectors:

Investigating those who use their hands and bodies as instruments for searching and healing.

The programmes in Series Two are:

Extra-Terrestrial Life: Shedding light on alien abductions and searching the distant universe for alternative intelligent life forms.

King Arthur: Archaeology, literary expertise, key locations and analysis of the stories of King Arthur combine to shed light on the truth behind one of Britain's most engaging heroes.

Monumental Mysteries: The mysteries of monuments left by ancient kings of Israel and Egypt unravelled.

Animal Telepathy: Those such as the 'horse whisperer' claim they can communicate with animals, but the question is, how?
